"Are you not of the tribe?" asked a tyrant of a man who was an Irishman. "No sir," was the reply, "I am the man who cooks the mate!"

Two Mademoiselles (Vt.) girls having been turned out of school for singing and spitting a couple hundred words, earned their money in ten hours and a half.

John W. Calkins, of Cassin County, Indiana lately rode into town the wife of one man and rode back home the wife of another. She was divorced, received license, married, while in town.

A San Francisco chamber-maid recently gave a month's warning alleging that she had recently made $200,000 in stocks, and was no longer dependent on her room for support.

An Alabama paper was not issued at the usual time lately, one of the editors being on the jury, and the other having been married. Both expressed their regrets in the next issue.

The Early Cotton (Ga.) News is braggart of a sack of cotton raised in that county. It is two feet high, bears fifty one pound and bolls, and is a sample of the crop from which it was taken.

The University of Oxford, England, will celebrate its thousandth anniversary this year. Popular tradition assigns King Alfred the Great as its founder in the middle of the ninth century.

The annual meeting of the old soldiers of the war of 1812 will be held at Newbury, to-day, the 18th inst., being the anniversary of the declaration of war against Britain.

An ordinance has been published in Warrenton, N. C., prohibiting citizens from panning for the tails of dogs. It must evidently have been a favorite amusement in that city to need a special ordinance to prevent it.

It is said that during the month of May upwards of twenty-five thousand buffaloes were killed on the Western plains south of the Kansas Pacific Railroad for the sake of their hides alone, which are worth but two dollars each.

A celebration of the National Young Men's Christian Association that was good Christian, would use tobacco, was old-fashioned smoke. It would have been more sensible to have said that no good Christian would abuse the patience of the public.

Two of the crew of a whaler which arrived at New London, Connecticut, recently, found that during their absences they had fallen heir to fortunes. The cook of the ship inherits a fortune of $25,000, left him by a near relation, and one of the foremast hands inherits $10,000 left by his mother.

great and serves the ends exactly opposite those aimed at—no good ever has come from abuse. Too many of our papers have indulged in abuse since the war, and a great part of our misfortune is due to that class of persons who have lost both logic and common sense. James L. Orr, with all his faults, has never been accused of any dishonesty in his judicial district, is the most respectable, law-abiding section of our State and he has done much during his career as Judge to elevate himself in the estimation of the good people of Abbeville county.

"But," if Judge Orr was as grand a villain as ever lived, if he was destitute of conscience, mind or heart, if he has lost all decency, such language would be out of place. However much he may differ with us in political ideas James L. Orr is an honest man, an honorable Councillor, and an upright Judge."

The News.

WASHINGTON, June 19.

No tobacco on which the tax has not accrued prior to July 1st, can, after that time, be put upon the market under a sixteen cent stamp. All stamps of that denomination remaining on hand must be returned to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, who will exchange them for stamps of the denomination of twenty cents, with the proper computation, as to the difference in their face value. Thus: a hundred dollars worth of sixteen cent stamps will receive one hundred dollars worth of twenty cent stamps, though the number of stamps will not be so great. The Commissioner absolutely refuses to change his ruling, requiring all tobacco bonded after the 6th of June instant, to be withdrawn for sale or consumption without the payment of the tax specified on the bond under which the removal was made.

WASHINGTON, June 18.

The President has reappointed Jos. Nimoy, Jr., Supervisory Inspector-General of estates aboat.
